

COMMENCEMENT FOR 17 HELD AT JEFFERSONVILLE

Dr. John Clark Williams
Of Sabina Delivers
Message To Class

Seventeen seniors of Jeffersonville High School received their long-coveted diplomas Thursday evening at commencement exercises held in the school auditorium at 8 o'clock.

The commencement speaker was Rev. John Clark Williams, D. D. of Sabina, who was formerly president of Westminster College and professor at Kansas City University. He is now pastor of the Sabina Methodist Church.

The high school band opened the program with the playing of "New China March" by Gould, and a procession of "Pomp and Circumstance" by Elgar. The members of the senior class, faculty members, minister and guest speaker were seated on the stage before a capacity audience. Baskets of spring flowers banded the edge of the stage.

Rev. W. S. Alexander gave the invocation and the band then played "Pilgrim Chorus" by Wagner. Rev. Williams was introduced by Supt. Carl M. Boring and his address was of timely interest to the students and audience.

Supt. Carl Boring then presented the diplomas to the seventeen members of the graduating class, who are Ralph Pettit, Eddie Agle, Janet Housen, Joe Knecht, Georgia Cave, Wendell Vannorsdall, Bill Allen, Helen Briggs, Rosemary Bucher, Stella Cooper, Lois Creamer, Marshall Jones, Elizabeth Sears, Pearl Smith, Claribel Snyder and Dick Stanford. Elizabeth Yarger, a member of the class, suffered a broken ankle the day before commencement, so her diploma was given to Helen Briggs, her closest friend.

Another member of the class, Anita Skeens returned to her former school at Harlem Twp. in Delaware County, to graduate. The first winner of the scholarship award given by the superintendent was Joe Knecht with an average of 94.11 and second was presented to Eddie Agle with an average of 92.

The band played "Finlandia" by Sibelius, Rev. E. R. Rector gave the benediction and the program closed with the band playing "The Star Spangled Banner."

FUNERAL SERVICES ARE HELD FOR CHILD

Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon at the residence in Jonesboro, for Shelia Faye Kendrick, 30-months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Kendrick, who was drowned in a cistern at her home.

Rev. Henry Leeth of the House of Prayer, conducted the services and read the memoir. Mrs. Gladys Sibole and Mrs. Lydia Rumer sang "Precious Jewels" and "Gathering Buds."

The services were largely attended and there were many lovely floral gifts. Burial was made in the Washington C. H. Cemetery.

5. This includes Romanians and Germans. But remember, they had 200,000."

Just off the right about 300 yards is bomb-plastered Chersononne's lighthouse where General Boehme hid in the last hours.

We asked a German prisoner about him.

"He was crazy in the last days," he said. "We had to watch him to keep him from committing suicide. He just sat in the cellar, moaned and held his head while shells burst above. 'No, it wasn't from fright. He just did not want to surrender.'"

"Voluntarily, not a single German general gives up his troops," interposed Gen. Birinzov.

A captured colonel, Hans Messinger, 336th Artillery Regiment, from the Rhineland, gave a good account.

When panic seized the thousands on Chersononne May 12, he

JESSE KELLOUGH BADLY INJURED

Former Fayette Countian Hurt By Tractor

Jesse P. Kellough, former resident of Fayette County, but who for many years has resided on the London-Big Plain Road, was injured seriously by a farm tractor one day this week, and is now in the Mt. Carmel Hospital, Columbus, and his condition is said to be critical.

Kellough, father of Harold Kellough of the Prairie Road, was operating a tractor, and stepped in front of the tractor to crank it. When the tractor was cranked it lunged forward, pinning him between the wheel and a large fence post, crushing his abdomen.

He was found in an unconscious condition and a London physician summoned, and was then removed to Mt. Carmel Hospital.

It is feared his vertebra is crushed and possibly other injuries of a serious nature were sustained.

said, officers lost command over the soldiers, fighting among themselves and bickering over the blame placing.

General Boehme repeatedly refused his colonels' offer to surrender to the advancing Russians.

Finally the men took matters in their own hands and came out with white flags and handkerchiefs.

Chersononne campaign actually ended this way:

A Russian tank drove up to the lighthouse. A young officer got out and tapped on the window.

"What did he say?" we asked the colonel.

"He asked us if we would please come out," replied the German.

to the east, Chinese columns were developing a pincers drive to clear a portion of the enemy-held Burma Road and effect a juncture with Stilwell's army, thus connecting the Ledo and Burma Roads and opening an overland supply route to China's scantily equipped army.

The Japanese-controlled Batavia radio announced last night that Soerabaja, Java, Japan's main base in the Netherlands East Indies and former headquarters of the Dutch Eastern fleet, has been bombed heavily.

Soerabaja lies 1,300 miles west of Darwin, Australia, and was occupied by Japan March 8, 1942.

An attack on Soerabaja serves a military as well as psychological purpose.

Through the long years of Dutch occupancy, Soerabaja had been built into one of the east's great naval ports. In its roadstead were installed complete facilities for supplying fighting ships. In addition the port had repair wharves, dry docks, a Marine railroad, floating cranes and other facilities for repair of both surface fighting ships and submarines—the latter craft to which the Dutch gave much attention.

With the advent of aviation as an important military factor, extensive seaplane facilities also were installed.

Soerabaja, which fell to the Japanese in April, 1942, at that time was the last big Pacific naval base west of Hawaii available to the Allies.

The thorough-going Dutch, however, saw to it that little was left for the immediate use of the enemy.

YANK AND FRENCH TROOPS CRASH MAIN NAZI LINE TO ROUT Foe IN ITALY

third on the capital this month—was so heavy it disrupted German news broadcasts.

American heavy bombers struck at Berlin, Hannover and Brunswick after a battle across German skies today, the Nazi radio said. Swarms of fighters made the attacking force 1,000 strong.

Yanks Attack Itri
Americans astride the ancient Appian Way turned field guns on Itri, 62 air miles from Rome, and on Gaeta, port of the Roman emperors. Naval guns also raked these objectives within a dozen miles of Terracina, where the flooded Pontine marshes begin.

The Poles and British, exploiting their victory at Cassino, struck up the Via Casilina to within a mile and a half of the Hitler bastion of Piedmont. The French in the center advanced four miles northwest of Esperia and captured Monticelli.

Monticelli has been described as situated in the heart of the area where the Hitler line defenses guard the edge of the Liri Valley.

Anzio Force Ready

Allied reserves in the Anzio beachhead 20 miles below Rome waited impatiently for the signal to plunge at the Germans from the rear. Overhead the Allied air fleets flew 2,200 flights and a share of credit for the spectacular land gains could go to the fliers, who have denied the Germans supplies by cutting communications south of Florence.

Moscow and Berlin agreed the renewal of grand scale battle was imminent on the eastern front. Local skirmishes were reported in southern Old Poland and in White Russia near Vitebsk in which up to a thousand Nazis died.

The bomber fleets in Britain still were idle last night because of storms. Berlin said U. S. bombers were over northwest Germany today. The Americans lost 13 heavy bombers and eight other planes yesterday and destroyed 14 Nazis in bombing Ploesti in Romania, Belgrade and Nis in Yugoslavia, Italian shores and battle grounds.

No Such Thing, Eh!

A German broadcast assertion that there is no such thing as an Adolf Hitler line in Italy was echoed today by the Nazi-controlled Rome radio.

The Office of War Information said Rome, following in the path outlined yesterday by the Berlin radio, had declared:

"Enemy propaganda statements that the Adolf Hitler line has been reached and passed are pure imagination, since such a defense line has never existed anywhere on the Italian front.

"It is true on the other hand, that during the fighting in the past few hours the Allies and their mercenaries have been unable to prevent German units from reaching in perfect order lines farther to the rear, which were prepared some time ago."

WELFARE INSTITUTIONS MAY HAVE TO COME LATER

COLUMBUS, May 19.—(AP)—State Welfare Director Herbert R. Mooney said today the War Production Board probably would not grant priorities for $948,000 worth of construction to relieve crowded conditions at Ohio Welfare institutions.

"The Board did not close the door altogether on our hope, but was not very encouraging about granting priorities in the near future," Mooney said. He had just returned from Washington where he had appealed to the WPA for the priorities.

K. F. Ermlich, WMC Area Director, will be in charge of the all-day session.

A tour of the Aeronautical Products, Inc., plant has been arranged for with J. T. Hively, Personnel Manager of that plant.

NEW OFFICE HOURS FOR RATION BOARD

A new time schedule of office hours has been set up for the county War Price and Rationing Board.

Effective Monday, the office is to open at 8 A. M. and close at 5 P. M. daily except Thursday. The doors are to be closed Thursday afternoons.

It was said in announcing the new schedule that the new hours would leave the office open a little longer for the convenience of the public and at the same time compensate the staff with a weekly half-holiday.

RENEWAL OF RED DRIVE WITH INVASION NOW FEARED BY GERMANS

The British do not rule out the possibility of such a German counter-invasion. The enemy troops might be assigned to knock out nerve centers vital to the Allied war machine.

Only last Saturday, Field Marshal Lord Isidore, commander of the home guards and former chief of the British Imperial Defense Staff, warned "It is quite possible that when we make our great invasion, the Germans will make some sort of effort to land in this country."

The Daily Mail said the German aircraft reported assembled along the channel coast included some huge six-engined bombers, each capable of carrying 150 men. The paper mentioned medium gliders and Junkers 52 transports as also in the enemy array.

Yes, Romeo, you're still aces with me... but I can't depart till I've harkened to the "Latest NEWS" on WHIO, Dayton. (Dial 1290.)

Like the Allies, Germany presumably is concerned with safeguarding her military secrets as invasion D-day approaches. A Moscow broadcast heard here said Germany has cancelled all visas to leave the Reich and Germans reaching the frontiers are being turned back.

The DNB agency announced in a broadcast from Berlin that the Nazi air force intended "to smash Portsmouth, Plymouth, Bristol and the docks of London"—ports it described as "bristling—positively crammed to the bursting point—with all manner of invasion equipment."

Another Berlin broadcast confirmed previous neutral reports that Field Marshal Gen. Karl Rudolf Gerd Von Rundstedt had been named supreme commander of the German anti-invasion command. Field Marshal Erwin Rommel was listed as a subordinate.

A Stockholm dispatch quoted a Finnish source there as saying the Allied invasion of Europe might bring about a quick Finnish peace with Russia by giving opposition parties sufficient strength to overthrow the present Helsinki government in favor of one willing to conclude an immediate armistice.

The proposed teamsters' strike was prevented after a conference of regional War Labor Board officials and spokesmen for rival AFL and CIO unions.

There were 1,400 idle at the Buick Motor Division aluminum foundry in Flint, Mich., after a strike of 24 metal pourers.

In Birmingham, two separate disputes caused 2,200 employees to leave their jobs. About 1,200 workers of the Pullman Standard Car Mfg. Co. walked out, virtually stopping production of freight cars, at the Bessemer plant, while approximately 1,000 miners walked out of four Birmingham coal mines.

The 3,000 striking employees of the Mack Manufacturing Co. of Allentown, Pa., voted last night to return to work. Between 300 and 425 iron workers and riggers returned to their jobs on a war project near Clinton, Tenn.

THE WAR TODAY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Continued success of the Allied drive in Italy will be bound to have a salutary effect on the European neutrals and wretched Axis satellites.

Indeed, when the Allied invasion of Western Europe has been successfully inaugurated, and the assault on Hitler's fortress is under way from all sides, we're likely to see a sharp swing of the neutrals and Hitlerian partners towards the United Nations. This is the main idea, it strikes me, of the offensive in Italy—to repair the damage done to Allied prestige by the delay in cracking the Gustav line which now has been obliterated.

The point is, of course, that most of these little countries haven't been masters of their fates but have been sitting under the Fuehrer's big guns. Once the Nazi devil is trapped and their security guaranteed, their moral support—and in some cases active aid—is likely to be flung to the Allies.

Pending the arrival of that favorable moment, the big three—America, Britain and Russia—are compelled to use strong-arm methods in the cases of neutrals which are giving invaluable aid to Hitler. Among the most urgent cases is that of Sweden whose export trade with Germany includes ball bearings, which are among the most vital of war material.

Pressure from the big three, both intimations of economic sanctions and offers to purchase Sweden's entire output of ball bearings, has failed to move Stockholm. The situation has become so acute that the U. S. War Department is said to be urging stern measures.

Why does Stockholm take this stand? The answer from what I understand to be the Swedish viewpoint is interesting, though unsatisfactory to the big three at this most crucial moment of the World War.

They tell us that the vast majority of the Swedish people are with the Allies at heart. The reason they're not in the war on our side is because they have, right up to now, been faced with these hard alternatives—either to maintain neutrality or commit national suicide. One hostile gesture from Sweden, and Hitler would have treated her as he did Norway and the rest.

Germany's pay for not attacking Sweden has been essential imports from the latter. It also has suited his purpose to sell Swedish necessities like coal, chemicals and iron. In this connection it's important to note that the Nazis control Swedish waters and that only by Hitler's permission could the Swedes import anything from abroad by sea. It's through his permission that Sweden has been allowed to bring oil and gasoline from the Western Hemisphere in her own tankers.

We've now reached the point where danger of attack by Germany has sufficiently lessened so that the Swedes might venture to cut off all trade with the Reich—if the Allies could replace essential Swedish imports. Stopping of Swedish exports to Germany would mean immediate cessation of Nazi exports to Sweden, and the Scandinavian neutral maintains that without these necessities she couldn't long hold out.

In view of these circumstances the offer of the Allies to buy all Sweden's ball bearings doesn't help from her viewpoint. The minute she cuts off ball bearing shipments to the Reich, all German exports to Sweden cease. In short, Stockholm apparently feels that it would be suicidal to stop trade with Germany until the Allies are able to guarantee Sweden's vital supplies.

That day may not be far off.

WOMANPOWER IS BADLY NEEDED IN WAR EFFORT

USES Office Issues Urgent
Call for Additional Women
In War Plants

The women of Fayette County have answered every call made for them to assist in the war effort, Ward C. Miller, Manager of the United States Employment Service, stated today.

"They did it before and I know they can do it again!" Miller said, referring to women working in war industries during the First World War.

During the war period of 1914-1918 women entered the labor force in larger numbers than ever before. The occupations in which these women were actively engaged were many, among them, lathe operators, punch-press operators, single and multiple-spindle-drill-press operators, assemblers, and others. In some industries, as aircraft and metal products, the employment of women rose from negligible proportions before the war to about 18 percent in 1918. In other war industries the proportions were considerably higher; 37 percent in optical goods, 35 percent in rubber goods, 35 percent in photographic supplies, 33 percent in leather goods, and 27 percent in electrical goods. At the close of the First World War women constituted 20 percent of the work force in all manufacturing industries in the United States. In addition to this work in war plants, the women organized themselves into a Women's Land Army which furnished thousands of workers for agricultural work and valuable help to canning plants during the processing season.

Miller said, "Now we are entering the crucial stage of the present war. We have just about reached the peak of production, but in order to win the war quickly, we must maintain this production figure. Replacements for workers in our war plants must be met, from now on, by larger and larger percentages of women workers. We have about reached the bottom of the barrel, for men to make these replacements."

Employment of women in war work has increased from 1,500,000 shortly after Pearl Harbor, to an estimated 6,000,000 after the start of 1944.

No doubt most of these women work to earn money enough to take care of themselves and of their dependents. But many of them don't need the money, and three years ago some of them would have laughed at the idea of doing factory work. Today they welcome the opportunity to serve in the production army while their husbands, sons, brothers and sweethearts are serving on the fighting fronts.

Employers have been surprised to find how efficient these women workers are. Women are found to be adept at assembly, inspection and the operation of many types of machines. In Washington Court House, at the Aeronautical Products, Inc., several women, substituting for men in the operation of various machines, have doubled the men's daily output, it is stated. It is because women are so well fitted for war work, and because the need is so urgent, that the United States Employment Service, 104 E. Market Street, makes an appeal for all women, who can offer their services, either full time, or part time, to do the following: Go to the U. S. Employment Service office and register for a war job, at once. Persuade some members of the family or a friend to take a war job.

Miller also said, "American women have come a long way in developing new privileges and bearing new responsibilities. Now they are faced with the challenge of total war. That counts women in too, and the fact that it means a spot of grease on the nose instead of a dab of powder isn't stopping them, not here in Fayette County.

"This is one war in which women don't have to stand aside and wait. They can join the United States army of production and fight.

"If you are unable to come to the U. S. Employment office, telephone (No. 7131) and your application will be recorded."

Flashes of Life

G. I.'s Find Shakespeare
STRATFORD-ON-AVON, England—G. I.'s who spurned Shakespeare in the classroom find he was quite a fellow in his native Stratford-on-Avon. They're flooding the American Red Cross White Swan Club, the cottage where "Willie Wood Ann."
Boys Pedal Water
AVONDALE, Colo.—Boys who tired of hand-pumping water for the Avondale school rigged a bicycle to the pump and now take turns pedaling water into a tank. The apparatus operates like a gymnasium exerciser.
Devil's Hoofprints Outlast 125 Years
BATH, N. C.—The fence which property owners put around the famous hoofprints of Bath has been removed, and attempts to capitalize on the legend given up, at least for the duration. But the hoofprints are there, just as they have been for over 125 years, and belief in North Carolina's most persistent ghost story is still strong in the neighborhood.
In 1813, the story goes, a rather profane gentleman named Jesse Elliott was in a horse race one Sabbath morning when he should have been in church. He shouted to his steed either to take him in a winner or take him to Hell. Whereupon the obliging horse is reported to have dug its hooves into the soft earth and hurled the rider against a tree, killing him instantly.
Ever since then the prints made by the horse's hooves have resisted eradication and awed natives think Elliott was astride Old Harry himself.

Women and Returning Soldiers

The other day we were interested in the remarks of an army nurse, back in this country for hospital care after service in North Africa. She said that the best thing the wife or fiancée of a service man could do while he is overseas is to "grow up."
By way of explanation, she added, "The youth who left will come back a man—and the man who left will come back more of a man—and will need a woman to understand him."
She was, perhaps, too modest to mention another reason. And that is that the American women servicemen see when they are abroad, for the most part, are courageous women—ready to risk their lives to serve as Army and Navy nurses, WACs and Red Cross workers.
They are undoubtedly giving servicemen a new idea of how courageous, efficient and really adult women can be.
And the soldier who has seen a nurse caring for the wounded while her own life is in danger isn't likely to think too highly of the girl who runs out on trouble.
Nor would a man—after knowing girls who have gone wherever their country wanted to send them—have much sympathy for the girl who insists she has to live in a certain spot because that is where her parents and friends are.
And it isn't likely that a man who has gone through the horrors of war will understand his wife's saying, "I never read any of those eye-witness accounts of the war; I couldn't bear to." That will just seem like running away from reality to him.
As the nurse pointed out, it is going to be real women whom the servicemen will need when they get home—not immature girls or clinging vines.

What Hath God Wrought!

On May 24, 1844, Samuel Finley Breeze Morse sat down at a small table in the old Supreme Court chamber of the nation's Capitol at Washington, D. C., placed his hand on his invention—the telegraph—and sent to a waiting world the first telegram—"What Hath God Wrought!"
This was the beginning of our modern communications system, but more than that, it was the first practical demonstration of the power and utility of electricity. Because of the difficult circumstances that surrounded Morse's efforts to develop his invention and to persuade the world it would work, the story strikes one as a good example of typical American grit.
Morse conceived his telegraph in 1832 after he had heard discussions of the electro-magnet. Although he was an artist, he was interested in things mechanical and electrical, and he had a dream—a dream of electrical communications that foretold a new era for the nations of the world.
Morse was not a good mechanic, but he was able to devise workable sending and receiving instruments while he was an art professor at New York University. In the face of continual difficulties, he kept up a campaign for five years to get Congress to approve a telegraph sponsorship bill. Finally, after all hope had been abandoned, Miss Annie Ellsworth, daughter of Morse's friend, the U. S. Commissioner of Patents, carried to the inventor the news that the bill granting $30,000 to build a telegraph line from Washington to Baltimore had been passed. To reward his good friend, Morse allowed her to choose the first message to be sent.

Today's Horoscope
A birthday today means that you are nervous, energetic and somewhat excitable. You play with childlike abandon and seek gaiety. You are kind, considerate and affectionate in your love. Good fortune will be experienced in several ways, the more so if your great energies, abilities and determination are usefully employed. Born today a child will be very energetic, persistent, ambitious, clever, one who will seize life's golden opportunities and achieve success and fame.

It was an "electrifying" moment when the words were received in Baltimore. Since that first message, the telegraph industry has constantly improved communication. Automatic sending and receiving machines, wires that carry many messages simultaneously, submarine cables, radio telegraphy, picture transmission by wire and radio, machines that send facsimiles of messages by wire—all go to make up the communication system that is such a vital factor in the winning of the war.

Looking ahead we can anticipate still greater improvements in the field of communication when some of the things developed during the war are put to the service of the public afterwards.

Survey Tells Tales on Dentists' Teeth

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.
THE SHOEMAKER'S children notoriously have gone without shoes and some one with a streak of malice has followed up this fundamental idea by examining a group of 350 dentists to see how good their own teeth were. If they had been in A-1, bang up, splendid shape it would have caused widespread disappointment and there would have been no story. So it will not come as a great surprise to find that the dentists have apparently not been too faithful in following out their own injunctions to see their dentist twice a year. The final conclusion was that the mouths of the dentists under study were in need of considerable restorative work.
The age of the dentists was 21 to 65. The average number of teeth per mouth that had been retained by the dentists was twenty-seven, quite high considering the wide age range group. It undoubtedly shows that the dentists paid far more attention to their own advice in an attempt at preserving their teeth than the general population. A comparative study of dental students who had naturally the advantage of being in a much younger age group showed that they had on the average only about two teeth missing per mouth to the dentists, five.
Condition of Teeth
But the dentists had some calculus in the mouth in three-quarters of those examined and over a third of them had metallic restorations that had been allowed to go on to secondary decay. There were about two teeth per mouth that showed some evidence of decay.
All this is very refreshing. It shows that dentists are human after all. It is perfectly human to dread going to a dentist and dentists share this human trait. It is quite possible that they may even be a little sorry for us while they are working that devilish little rat-tat-tat-tat on our sensitive nerve endings.
Another interesting and important study which the American Dental Association has kindly sent me is on edentulous mouths, that is, mouths that are entirely without teeth. You may have a rosy thought that if all your teeth are out you are going to have no trouble with teeth for the rest of your life, but such is not the case. You won't have pyorrhea, that is true, and edentulous mouths are entirely free of the Vincent's germs that get in between the teeth and the gums, causing pyorrhea and so often go further and cause tonsillitis and sore throat.
Retained Root Tips
The troubles that may arise to plague the person who fondly thinks all his teeth are out is that some root tips have been left in and these can often cause trouble. An X-ray study of the mouths of 351 such patients showed the extraordinary fact that 122 of them had retained root tips. Most of them had been wearing dentures over the retained tips for many years and while some of them complained of no discomfort many had more or less vague pains and irritations for which they knew no cause until the retained roots showed up on the X-ray.
The lesson is that X-ray studies should be made before and after extraction of teeth to see that no fragments have been left in the jaws. The time to get them out is at the time of extraction. It is advisable not to try to remove the retained roots. The situation should be explained to the patient.

Then he circled the Square (which was round); peered into Sol Gowdy's Men's Shop, the Bon Ton Department Store, Dunc MacLean's Fine Liquors, and William Ketcham—Insurance; examined the three gilded balls above the shop of J. P. Simpson, the jardiniere of green and red liquid in the window of the High Village Pharmacy, Myron Garback, Prop., and turned to survey the thoroughfares which radiated like spokes from the hub of the Square.
One spoke was a broad avenue: the red-brick Town Hall, the Carnegie Library, a glimpse of park, tall praying trees, and beyond, a cluster of white new WPA-looking buildings. Another spoke was a street lined with stores and full of women in house dresses and men in work clothes. Consulting his street map, Mr. Queen ascertained that this avenue of commerce was Lower Main; so he made for it.
He found the Record office; he peered in and saw the big press being shined up by old Phinny Baker after the morning's run. He sauntered up Lower Main, poking his nose into the crowded five-and-dime, past the new Post Office building, past the Bijou Theater, past J. C. Pettigrew's real-estate office; and he went into Al Brown's Ice Cream parlor and had a New York College Ice and listened to the chatter of tanned boys and red-checked girls of high-school age. He heard Saturday night "dates" being arranged right and left—for Danceland, in the Grove, which he gathered was at Wrightsville Junction three miles down the line, admission one dollar per person, and for Pete's sake Marge keep your mother away from the parking lot, you? I don't wanna get caught like two weeks ago and have you start bawling!
Mr. Queen strolled about the town, approving and breathing deeply of wet leaves and honeysuckle. He liked the stuffed eagle in the Carnegie Library vestibule; he even liked Miss Aikin, the elderly Chief Librarian, who gave him a very sharp look, if it was "Don't you try to sneak a book out of here!" He liked the twisting narrow streets of Low Village, and he went into Sidney Gotch's General Store and purchased a package of tobacco just as an excuse to smell the coffee and rubber boots and vinegar, the cheeses and kerosene.
He liked the Wrightsville Machine Shop, which had just reopened, and the old cotton-mill factory, diagonally across from the Low Village World War Memorial. Sidney Gotch told him about the cotton mill. It had been a cotton mill, then an empty building; he could see for himself the splintery holes in the windows where the Low Village boys threw rocks in summer and snowballs in winter on their way to school. But now "specials" prowled around the mill with long fat holsters strapped to their thighs and eyes in their heads that would not smile; the boys, said Sidney Gotch, just yelled "Yahhhhh!" and took it out on Mueller's Feed Store three doors up the block.
And the woolen mill had taken on extra help—army orders.
"Boom times, brother! No wonder you couldn't get a room. I've got an uncle from St. Paul and a cousin from Pittsburgh doubling up with me and Betsy right now!"
Mr. Queen glanced up at the big clock on the Town Hall steeple. Two-thirty. No room, eh?
Walking rapidly, he made his way back to Lower Main and neither paused nor pried until he reached the shop marked J. C. PETTIGREW, REAL ESTATE.
His number 12's up on his desk, J.C. was napping when Mr. Queen entered. Mr. Pettigrew had just come from the weekly Chamber of Commerce lunch at Upham House, and he was full of fried chicken.
"Mr. Queen woke him up. 'My name,' said the caller, 'is Smith. I've just landed in Wrightsville, and I'm looking for a small furnished house to rent on a month-to-month basis.'
"Glad to know you, Mr. Smith," grinned J.C., struggling into his gabardine office jacket. "My, it's warm! Furnished house, hey? I can see you're a stranger. No furnished houses in Wrightsville, Mr. Smith."
"Then perhaps a furnished apartment—"
"Same thing," J.C. yawned as he leaned back in his swivel chair and picked his teeth with an ivory pick. "Housing's a problem. Yes, sir. People pouring into town like grain in a hopper. To work in the Machine Shop especially. Wait a minute!"
Mr. Queen waited.
Suddenly Mr. Pettigrew asked, "Mr. Smith, you superstitious?"
"I can't say I am."
"In that case," said J.C., brightening; then he stopped. "What business you in? Not that it makes much difference, but—"
Ellery hesitated. "I'm a writer."

May 31 Bride-Elect Is Feted At Miscellaneous Shower by Co-Hostesses, Thursday Eve

Another in a Series of Parties for Prominent Young Woman Is Held Here On Thursday Evening

Miss Ruth Jane Sexton and Mrs. Robert Hook combined hostilities at the home of Mrs. Hook on North Fayette Street, Thursday evening, with a dessert-bridge miscellaneous shower, in compliment to Miss Jeanne Woollard, whose marriage to Lt. (j. g.) John L. Chynoweth will be an event of Wednesday, May thirty-first.

The hostesses and guest of honor received their guests in the living room of the attractively-appointed Hook home. Miss Woollard was wearing a chic gray spring cotton frock with white applique trim.

The guests were seated in the living room at four small tables for the dessert serving. A pastel color scheme was used in the decorations about the home and for the serving. The hostesses received many compliments for the clever arrangement of their dessert course. A portion of ice cream in a paper cup was trimmed with crepe paper, so as to take the form of a flower pot. Topping this were hand-made corsages of sweetpeas which the guests were presented as favors. The result was both artistic and clever. Centerpieces for each table were tiny sprinkling cans, filled with gorgeous spring blossoms.

Following the most congenial and delightful hour in the living room where informal visiting was enjoyed, the co-hostesses invited the honoree and other guests to the dining room where the large table was laden with a number of miscellaneous shower gifts. A huge white sprinkling can was filled with a number of pastel-shaded garden flowers and crepe paper streamers, carrying out the pastel theme, were tied from each gift to the centerpiece. As the

Those attending the wedding were Gene Sagar, Jack Stockhouse, Don Wyatt, Winton Yates and Dick Roush.

Next on the program was a short skit, namely "Latest News" given by Hugh Hilty, Daryl Heckerson and Herbert Crosswhite.

Plans also were tentatively made for a picnic to be held in June and announcement made that the choir would help with a Memorial Day program in honor of the boys from the church serving in the armed forces, to be held on Sunday evening, May 28.

The congenial hostess served tempting refreshments during the social hour with informal singing affording entertainment and fun. Assisting in the cordial hostilities were Mrs. Charles Keaton, Mrs. Paul Spencer and Misses Jean and Nancy Spencer.

Starring Ann Sheridan as Nora Bayes, and Dennis Morgan as Jack Norworth, her husband, the film depicts the rise of the first of the torch-singers from her early days in a Milwaukee honky-tonk, to the success which eventually befell her as one of the biggest of Ziegfeld stars.

Mary Robinson Is Guest Speaker At Dinner Here

Thirty-three members and ten guests of the Business and Professional Woman's Club assembled in the home economic room of Washington High School for the monthly dinner meeting with Miss Betty Cook presiding as program chairman, after the dinner hour.

Those attending were seated at long, flower-centered tables where the delicious and appetizingly-prepared meal was served, and the guests found their places by clever place-cards which were at each plate.

Miss Cook presented Edgar Earl Haggard of Covington, Ky., baritone, who sang two numbers to open the program "The Lord Prayer" and "The Open Road." His rendition of these favorites was well received by the audience.

Miss Cook then introduced Miss Mary Robinson of the Red Cross, here, who gave an ad-

CRAIG'S

Softball League Here Virtually Assured Markets and Finance

A six-team softball league today seemed assured for Washington C. H. this summer as George Miraben, high school coach who had charge of last year's recreation program, and Robert A. Craig, member of the YM-YW board which has been backing the program, checked up on the results of a meeting called to determine the sport's fate this year.

Bucky's Win Streak Broken As Jays Shut Out Reds, 3-0

By JACK HAND

(By the Associated Press)
Clark Griffith's night life diet has fattened the Washington treasury by some 100,000 admissions and today has lifted the Senators into a virtual tie with the Yankees for the American League lead.

Lodged in sixth place in early season, the Latin-tinted Nats have won 12 of their last 16, and six out of eight since they turned on the lights at Griffith Stadium.

Today's standings show them with one more win, and one more loss, than New York, although nine points back in the percentage tables, after last night's 4-2 nod over Cleveland. Dutch Leonard added his third straight victory of the campaign last night on one big four-run inning.

Chicago's Thurman Tucker belted New York out of a 10-inning ball game, 8-4, when he tripled with the bases loaded off relief man Em Roser.

Rufe Gentry blanked Philadelphia with nine hits and batted in the only run of Detroit's 1-0 triumph over Don Black, and Oscar Judd clubbed two hits and scored three times while going the route for the first time in Boston's 12-1 swamping of St. Louis.

In the National A League added another link to his tough luck chain by dropping a 2-0 no-hitter to St. Louis. Ken Raffensberger of the Phils didn't quite match Javary in his three-hit effort at and draft plans for the future. Four organizations were definitely in line for teams and two others registered intentions of entering teams when and if the loop is formed.

Percy Shaffer, representing the Eagles, Richard Jacobs of the APL, Charles Reinke of the Lions Club and Willard Wilson of Wilson's Hardware Co., answered the call for the meeting with Miraben and Craig. Dewey Sheidler said the Methodist Church expected to form a team and Orville Nichols said Company D of the State Guard planned on putting a team in the field.

There will be another meeting of managers at the Army Monday at 7:30 P. M. to draw up rules of play and league regulations.

The door is still open for other organizations to enter teams, Miraben declared as he said: "Any other organization wanting to enter a team should send a representative to the Monday night meeting."

Cincinnati but he managed to win and snap Bucky Walters' streak at five by a 2-0 score.

Rube Melton of Brooklyn whitewashed Pittsburgh for eight innings but the Pirates got after him and reliever Bill Lohrman for four runs and a 4-0 victory before a man was retired in the tenth.

New York at Chicago was postponed on account of cold weather.

LION CUBS READY FOR GREENFIELD

The WHS Junior High School track team, 22 strong, today was all set for its meet with the McClain High School Juniors at Greenfield Saturday afternoon.

And, Bill Rudduck, diminutive all-around athlete of the varsity who is the team's coach, said with a grin: "They'll be plenty tough to beat, too, and we won't settle for a tie."

The junior team has been working out every evening after school at Gardner Park for the past two weeks. The program for the first meet, and probably the only one of the season now nearing a close, is to include virtually every event on the varsity meets.

Coach Rudduck gave this lineup of the squad for the Saturday meet:

Johnson, 50 yd. dash and hurdle relay.
Looker, 100 yd. and 220 yd. dashes.
Sagar, 50 yd. dash and 440 yd. relay.
Rinehart, 75 yd. dash.
Cox, 75 yd. dash and 440 yd. relay.
Coble, 100 yd. dash and shot.
Van Meter, 440 yd. dash and broad jump.
Grimm, 440 yd. dash.
Bill Andrews, 220 yd. dash and 880 yd. relay.
O'Brien, 440 yd. relay and high jump.
Luckey, 440 yd. relay.
Denton, 100 yd. low hurdle and broad jump.
Craig, 100 yd. hurdle and hurdle relay.
Bryan, 880 yd. run and hurdle relay.
Orr, 880 yd. run.
Crossowhite, 880 yd. relay and high jump.
Wilson, high jump and 880 yd. relay.
Hart, pole vault.
Dick Andrews, pole vault.
Campbell, 100 yd. hurdle relay.
Burden, 880 yd. relay.
Korn, manager and Bill Rudduck, coach.

Getting cars for the trip has been proving somewhat of a problem but the boys have been persistent and are confident that everything will be all set when they get ready to leave at 1:15 P. M. The meet is scheduled to start at 2 P. M.

Bowling Battles Open in Chicago

CHICAGO, May 19.—(P)—The National Bowling spotlight was on Chicago again today as 36 teams with combined averages of 400 or better, began competition in the second annual national two-man match game championship.

The teams will bowl 42 games and the leading four combinations will enter the finals with two pairs of bowlers who, in the last year, held the national doubles title. They are Ned Day-Rudy Pugel of Milwaukee and Nelson Burton-Frank Mataya of St. Louis, seeded in the finals.

By Gene Ahern

The class in auto mechanics at the high school has organized a team, Miraben said, and added significantly that "they would like to have some concern sponsor their entrance in the league."

Barring now unforeseen complications, the league season will be opened on the night of June 1. With this in view, it is possible that a tentative schedule will be drawn up at the Monday night meeting. That is one reason, Miraben said, why it is important that representatives of all teams be there—and that included teams that have not made known their intentions previously, he added. He also emphasized that managers or team representatives should bring player lists with them so they could be checked.

A loosely-knit league organization was set up at the initial meeting to facilitate the arrangements and handle details, Craig was named to serve as treasurer and Jacobs of the APL and Shaffer of the Eagles were made co-secretaries.

Miraben said the Wilson Field park was "in fair shape" now but that the outfield would be mowed and the infield scraped in the near future.

GOLF SEASON OPENS HERE SUNDAY WITH VARIETY PROGRAM ALL SET

The golf season is to be formally inaugurated with fanfare and fun at the Country Club here Sunday, under plans that have been mapped out by the inauguration committee and announced by Tony Capuana, the war worker pro of the club.

Sunday's variety program could hardly be called an opening in the strict sense of the word, because many of the old dyed-in-the-wool devotees of the sport have been at it all winter and spring. But, it will be the lid-lifter for many of the more conservative players who follow the calendar more closely.

Big things have been planned for the club this year, said Capuana as spokesman for the committee. He explained that club directors and the golf committee, who have been working out an expanded program of activities, were motivated by a conviction that "we must all keep fit to meet our increased wartime obligations in the country's war effort, no matter what they are." He went on to explain that with nearly 2,000 young men from this community in the armed forces, those remaining at home were under a greater strain to fill their places. Recreation and relaxation are considered essential in relieving the tension of high-gear wartime civilian life if by the war effort is kept at top efficiency.

Details of plans for the golf course during the summer months were not discussed, but it was said that they would be unfolded from week to week as they are fitted to changing conditions.

The Sunday opening affair will be featured by "all kinds of golf events—something for every golfer," Capuana said. There'll be prizes, too. The only requirement is that all register at the pro's shop. The top event, one which is to continue on Sundays throughout the summer, is the blind bogey tourney of nine holes.

Capuana, speaking for the directors and committee, said he hoped all the members would come with a guest.

The annual handicap tourney is to start about the middle of June with one match a week scheduled for each entrant. Scores before then are to be turned in to the pro so handicaps can be figured.

Play is expected to increase here this year for several reasons, Capuana said, and to get ready for it, he added, "the course is in better shape than it has been for two years."

CASSINO AND MONASTERY IN RUINS AFTER BATTLES OVER HALLOWED GROUND

From this hill where St. Benedict founded the Benedictine Order in 529 A. D., and laid the foundations for the monastery which, until three months ago, was a glistering gem against the sky, I looked down today on what remains of Cassino, free at last of street fighting and the chatter of machine guns.

Only part of the town is visible from the monastery, but save for its shattered buildings and its

Return Game Here Sunday

Sabina's baseball team is coming to Washington C. H. for a return game with the Eagles Sunday afternoon.

The Merchants won 5 to 2 last Sunday in the opening game of a seven-game series which has been arranged for the two teams. The second game of the series at Wilson Field here is scheduled for 3 P. M. The remaining five games are to be played later in the season.

Eagle batters will have to face Hodson, the old reliable of Sabina's team, on the mound. Knecht, described as a "new discovery," will be behind the plate. The Eagle line-up is undergoing some changes, but just what they are is uncertain. They won their opening game from a team of soldiers from Patterson Field two weeks ago. The showing the team has made in its first two games admittedly was far better than either the players themselves or the fans had expected.

The class in auto mechanics at the high school has organized a team, Miraben said, and added significantly that "they would like to have some concern sponsor their entrance in the league."

Barring now unforeseen complications, the league season will be opened on the night of June 1. With this in view, it is possible that a tentative schedule will be drawn up at the Monday night meeting. That is one reason, Miraben said, why it is important that representatives of all teams be there—and that included teams that have not made known their intentions previously, he added. He also emphasized that managers or team representatives should bring player lists with them so they could be checked.

A loosely-knit league organization was set up at the initial meeting to facilitate the arrangements and handle details, Craig was named to serve as treasurer and Jacobs of the APL and Shaffer of the Eagles were made co-secretaries.

Miraben said the Wilson Field park was "in fair shape" now but that the outfield would be mowed and the infield scraped in the near future.

GRAIN MARKET NEWS SUMMARY

CHICAGO, May 19.—AP—Commodity house selling depressed wheat futures prices in moderate trading today and caused a slight recession in the rye market. The firm position of cash wheat tended to offset the effects of excellent growing weather and a favorable outlook for the winter crop.

Estimates of total Canadian wheat acreage this year placed it at 20 million acres, an increase of about four million acres over that seeded in 1943. There was heavy buying of December oats by cash interests against purchases of September.

May wheat, oats and barley held at 1 1/4 lower, July 1 1/2 lower, active oats were 1/4 lower to 1/2 higher, July 7 1/2-8 1/2. Rye was 1/4 to 1/2 lower, May 1 1/2-2 1/2, July 1 1/2-2 1/2. Barley—May 1 1/2-2 1/2, July 1 1/2-2 1/2.
